About Us

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar College, situated under the Tehatta Sub Division of Nadia District, was established in 1973 and affiliated to the University of Kalyani. Though once a very backward border village full of jungles infested with wild animals, Betai made an important place in the field of higher education with the inception of this degree college named after Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the chief architect of the Constitution of India and the life-long crusader for the dignity of the oppressed people. More than ninety percent of people of the area under Nadia and a part of Murshidabad District are served by this college belong to S.C., S.T., BC (Backward Class) and poor minority communities. Most of the residents, mainly of Nadia District along the border area, are rootless refugees from East Pakistan (now Bangladesh) who settled here after the partition of India in 1947.
